Eat 'N' Go Restaurant Group, the master franchisee for Domino's Pizza Nigeria, is on a mission to become the premier food operator in Africa by bringing affordable food and drink and social responsibility to every market in which they open stores. The Nigerian market presents a great opportunity for Eat 'N' Go to position Domino's into a leading brand within the country.

"We are eager to deliver Domino's Pizza to the people of Nigeria, so that they can experience the delicious, quality pizza that is loved around the world," said Eric Andre, Eat 'N' Go Restaurant Group managing director.

"Establishing ourselves in this emerging West African country presents a great opportunity for our business, and continues our global momentum as a brand," said Ritch Allison, Domino's Pizza executive vice president of international. "We have a great operator in Eric - his knowledge of the business landscape will be instrumental in making Domino's Pizza the leading pizza brand in Nigeria."

Domino's Pizza now operates in over 70 markets worldwide, with more than half of its global retail sales coming from international stores, making up over a third of its adjusted operating income.
